

Pinchot Chosen Governor by a Majority of 68,000 Crowds Unable to Gain Admittance to Cooking School

SEVERAL HUNDRED WOMEN CROWD THE ST. JAMES'S PARISH HOUSE AS COURIER'S COOKING AND HOME- MAKING SCHOOL OPENS; DOZENS OF AWARDS ARE MADE

Mrs. Katherine Delaney, Lecturer-Demonstrator From The DeBoth Schools, Has Fine Lesson As Initial Offering — Women Show Keen Interest in Modern Ways of Cooking and Home-Making.

That women of Bristol and nearby towns are interested in modern methods of cooking and better home-making, was attested to by the crowd that thronged St. James's parish house, Wood and Walnut streets, last evening, to hear and watch the lecturer-demonstrator, Mrs. Katherine Delaney, when the opening session of the Courier's cooking school was held.

Mrs. Delaney, who comes to Bristol from the DeBoth Cooking and Home-Makers' Company, through efforts of The Bristol Courier, kept her audience of several hundred women of every age, interested from the start to the finish.

Promptly at 7.45 was the hostess of the evening, Mrs. William O'Dea, of Radcliffe street, Edgely, introduced by a representative of The Courier. Words of welcome were extended to the group by the member of the Courier staff and Mrs. O'Dea, the latter then presenting Mrs. Delaney.

A unique and attractive kitchen setting, arranged upon the stage at the front of the room, greeted the women-folk, and in this model kitchen did Mrs. Delaney concoct many things to tempt the appetite. A wool cake, veal birds pleasing in their "blankets" of bacon and garnished with parsley, baked halibut topped with white sauce and white grapes, and surrounded by rings of green peppers, breakfast scones, a university salad with tempting ingredients, made hundreds of mouths water.

As Mrs. Delaney worked about her kitchen, in which was found every appliance that makes for convenience, she gave helpful suggestions to the housewives, and willingly answered questions put to her. Occasionally she would halt her work and present to someone in the audience a gift, food products or a box of soap granules, etc., which will help to lighten the wash-day.

Mrs. Delaney's work was made lighter owing to the fact that upon her set were placed: three porcelain topped kitchen tables; a model kitchen cabinet, two gas ranges with automatic heat control, a Frigidaire with cold control system, a fine Maytag washer and ironer, etc.

Suggestions were given to the assemblage as to how housekeeping becomes a pleasure through budgeting, and helpful hints included choice of silver, automatic oil burner selection, lotions suggested that will help to keep hands soft and white, and choice of aluminum and chinaware mentioned.

"It makes much difference," stated the one conducting the class at the Courier's cooking school, "as to the choice of housedress and shoes." Styles of comfortable and neat-appearing dresses for home-work were displayed, and then from the audience was called a woman to model a size 16 housedress. The garment was presented to the young woman after she had shown it to the women assembled. The presentation of the garb was made possible through cooperation of Smith Model Shop.

At the close of the session a young boy was called to the platform to take from the large number of coupons collected during intermission 25, holders of whom were presented with groceries, and articles that will assist on wash-day.

Those receiving the bags were as follows: Mrs. P. Arensmeyer, 823 Pond street; Mrs. John H. Hardy, 1421 Pond street; Mrs. C. Lanza, 317 Washington street; Mrs. Ruth Shire, 387 Pond street; Mrs. N. Dashnaw, 124 Fillmore street; Mrs. Annie Turner, 220 Mulberry street; Miss Nettie Catone, 714 Corson street; Mrs. G. Greco, 337 Jefferson avenue; Mrs. Glenna M. Spencer, 249 Madison street; Mrs. John Earl, 322 Wood street; Irene Sharp, 632 Beaver street; Mrs. Rudolph Ruby, 340 Cleveland street; Mrs. Lillie Minster, 2 Green Lane; Elizabeth B. Bailey, 228 Mulberry street; Mrs. Joseph Wright, 260 Wood street; Mrs. Eva Bennett, 445 Jefferson avenue; Ella McCole, 306 Jefferson avenue; Mrs. David O. Taylor, Mrs. Viola Brodie, 229 Madison street; Mrs. J. E. Baur, 242 Cleveland street; Mrs. J. S. Ely, 425 Radcliffe street; Mrs. J. E. Johnson, 508 Pond street; Mrs. Hazen J. Stewart, 1810 Benson Place; Mrs. Thomas K. Schatt, Hulmeville; Mrs. Herman Michel, Edgely.

The delectable dishes arranged throughout the course of the school were also presented to women in the audience, the fortunate ones being: Violet Hilgendorf, Edgely, baked halibut; Mrs. William Bourber, Washington and Pennsylvania avenues, Croydon, breakfast scones; Marie Gian-

COOKING SCHOOL FACTS

Fifty additional chairs have been procured and placed in St. James's parish house for the Courier's cooking school this evening.

When the seating capacity of the hall has been exhausted the doors will be closed.

Mrs. Katherine Delaney, lecturer-demonstrator, was much impressed last evening by the type and character of the women attending the first session of the school.

Seventeen members of the Mothers' Association of the Bristol public schools were fortunate in being among those to whom awards were made by Mrs. Delaney. This information was telephoned to the Courier this morning by a member of the Mothers' Association who was impressed with the coincidence.

The Bristol Travel Club, which had a program of unusual merit scheduled for this Friday evening, has announced the change to an afternoon session, because of the interest on the part of the women in the cooking school.

The prize winners came from Bristol, Edgely, Hulmeville and Philadelphia.

The lady from Philadelphia receiving an award declined to take it because of the fact she was connected with the company displaying the Kitchen-Aid.

Representatives of a number of the companies participating attended the opening session and were warm in their praises of the various exhibits, the size of the audience, and the type of people represented in the audience.

tomass, 333 Lafayette street, veal birds.

Prior to the commencement of the class and during intermission music was furnished upon a Majestic radio, installed by McCole's Radio Shop.

Owing to the limited capacity of the auditorium several women were forced to stand last evening, and some returned to their homes disappointed. Arrangements are being made to place more seats for this evening's and succeeding sessions; but when the auditorium is filled to capacity the doors will be closed. An early arrival is advised, as interest in this, the first cooking school of its kind in Bristol, is keen.

Again this evening will 25 market bags, laden with goodies, be given out, as well as other valuable articles.

Mrs. Delaney, who is showing that cooking can be made most interesting, and can be done in a very orderly manner and in a brief space of time, will have a long lesson to give tonight, and promises it will be more interesting than that of the first night.

Messrs. Joseph Ebnis, Melvin Snyder, Charles McCafferty and John Mulligan, of Buckley street, Joseph McVaine, of Mulberry street, William Thompson, of Pine street, Edward Taffe, of Monroe street, Nevin McGinley, of Otter street, and Edward Connors, of New Buckley street, were among a number of guests at a Hal-lowe'en party given Thursday evening at the home of Miss Harriet Fullerton, of Torresdale. During the evening, Edward Connors rendered numerous vocal selections.

Miss Catherine Downs, of Washington street, spent the week-end in Philadelphia, visiting her cousin, Miss Marion Downs.

LOVERS' LANE VICTIMS TELL OF HOLD-UPS

Many Young Men and Women Tell of Being Robbed By Bandits

WALCZKOWSKI IS HELD

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 5.—The court of Justice of the Peace W. Carlile Hobensack was the center of attraction for a group of young couples who were held up by bandits on Lover's Lane, Bensalem township two months ago.

It was the occasion of the hearing of Sigmund Walczkowski, twenty-eight, of 3014 Livingston street, Philadelphia, charged on a number of bills with highway robbery.

As the young couples testified of the thrilling holdups in which they were robbed of jewelry and money amounting to over $500, the defendant also known as "Sigey" Welsh, sat unmoved and undisturbed in a seat nearby, holding the hand of his wife, Mary, who was next to him. Walczkowski is a powerful youth, of stature, that is not difficult to mark.

"Sigey," as he is known in Philadelphia police records, together with Frank Pettaccio, of Philadelphia, held up a large number of couples on Lover's Lane, usually about 11 o'clock at night while the cars were parked along the narrow road that leads off the Street Road, near Trevoese.

One night they held up a car containing State Police, thinking the car contained a "petting party," and a shooting affray followed in which Pettaccio was shot and killed by the State Police, who were later exonerated for the killing. "Sigey" was arrested the following morning in Philadelphia and took the police over the ground where the hold-up was committed and re-enacted the details. He gave the State Police a confession but later, after getting in touch with Philadelphia attorneys, decided not to plead guilty and directed his lawyers to "put up a battle" for him in court. Last night he did not testify.

All the witnesses brought by the Commonwealth who were gathered together in the investigation conducted by Corporal William Francis, last night identified Walczkowski from his features, his dress and his voice that they had previously heard at the county prison, as one of two men that held them up.

William Speakman, Neshaminy, and Charles Krimble, Willow Grove, testified they were on Lover's Lane on the night of August 24, when they were robbed of $80 in money, two wrist watches, and a pocket watch worth $100. They were with two young ladies at the time, and both the girls were robbed too. They recognized the defendant as one of the hold-up men, both of whom carried revolvers and ordered them to "stick up their hands."

Harry Pitts, of Philadelphia, testified that on the night of August 22, he was robbed at the same place of a wrist watch and a ring worth $75 and $40 in cash. He was accompanied by a Philadelphia girl whom the bandits stole a bracelet and a ring. Pitts and his friend identified the defendant at (Continued on Page 8)

THE ELECTION AT A GLANCE

Latest calculations in Pennsylvania with 1063 precincts, chiefly in the rural districts, yet to be heard from give Pinchot a lead of 68,486 over Hemphill. The vote: Pinchot, 974,063; Hemphill, 905,577.

The Democrats will probably win control of the House of Representatives at Washington; will probably be able to organize it, and just miss optional control of the Senate by only one or two seats.

Morrow's plurality is now 180,000 in New Jersey.

Franklin Roosevelt swept New York and was elected for a second time as the chief executive of that state.

Marcus A. Coolidge, wet Democrat, was chosen U. S. Senator from the Bay State, returns from Boston indicate. Ely, wet Democratic governor, was also elected.

Early returns point to big majorities for the anti-prohibition referenda in Illinois, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Truck Driver Fined for Having Overloaded Vehicle On the Highway

OTHER COUNTY NOTES

Morrisville, Nov. 5.—Ralph Bates, of 445 Home avenue, Trenton, driving for the Philadelphia & Chester Transportation Company, was fined $50 and costs for having an overload of 4,600 pounds on his truck. Chief of Police Cooper made the arrest and Bates was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Nolan.

Willard E. Johnson, of Boston, was fined $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge. Patrolman McAfee, of the State Highway Patrol, made the arrest and had him arraigned before Squire Nolan.

Gus Coninis, of Central Avenue, was fined $10 and costs because he failed to cut the weeds at his home. Chief of Police Cooper made the arrest. Coninis first refused to pay the fine, but after spending some time in a cell at the police station, changed his mind.

Edward O'Neil, of 740 Walnut Street Potstown, was fined $4 and costs for illegal ranking and without lights. Officer Lebergern made the arrest.

LANGHORNE, Nov. 5.—Despite the efforts of the South Langhorne Fire Department, a truck owned by M. Mobatz & Son, of Baltimore, and loaded with $2,500 worth of veneering material was destroyed near here when it caught fire after running off the road and turning over in a field.

The mishap, which occurred at 3.30 a. m., is said to have been caused when the driver of the truck turned sharply to avoid striking two automobiles that were parked on the side of the highway without lights. The cargo of veneering material smoldered until late in the afternoon.

NEWTOWN, Nov. 5.—Despite threatening weather, the Newtown Halloween block party was a brilliant success. This demonstration was sponsored by the Newtown Exchange Club and made possible by the business and other interested people of the town.

State Street was blocked off between Washington and Centre avenues and a large platform erected in the centre of the square. A fine system was arranged for broadcasting the program so that everyone in the block could hear the performance. John Couper of Newtown, was announcer of the evening.

SELLERSVILLE FOLKS WANT PUBLIC PARK

Ask Commissioners to Acquire Tract of Land for The Purpose

AID WATER SUPPLY

Sellersville's pet project, the permanent preservation of the scenically beautiful banks of the Northeast Branch of Perkiomen Creek, above and below the Main street bridge in that Bethlehem pike community, is a live issue.

It has been made so through the recent water shortage in Sellersville, due to the collapse of the borough's supply of that necessary commodity after a long-continued drought.

A group of Sellersvillians asked Bucks County Commissioners at Doylestown, to acquire the lands abutting both sides of Perkiomen Branch from the public playground in Sellersville, which is west of the Reading Railway, up through Sellersville, to the Perkiasie Borough line, a short distance below Menlo Park.

"For park purposes" was the reason assigned by spokesmen for the delegation. The plan contemplated, further, the commissioners were told, restoration of an old dam at Lake Lenape a short distance north of the Main street bridge, and the creation thereby of a natural lake to provide for all time a reserve supply of water for fire protection in just such an emergency as that which kept Sellersville in a state of high tension for the greater part of the recent month.

This element gives the whole proposition a very practical turn, spokesmen emphasized, pointing out that under a State law only recently called to their attention, the county commissioners have the right to acquire such property for "park purposes." Sellersville, they said, would be glad to take the initiative but the borough lacks the funds.

The assumption is that if the county intervenes and purchases the waterway frontage up to the Perkiasie line, Perkiasie will follow suit and continue the "parkway" through Menlo Park to the Perkiasie playground.

Sellersville was represented at the conference by Burgess C. Russell Winter, President of Council Frank Jackson, Samuel L. Althouse, a playground director; David D. Cressman, representing Sellersville Board of Trade, and Harry E. Barndt, a member of the local Board of Education.

They were given a cordial reception by the commissioners, one of whom is William S. Schlichter, Republican leader of Sellersville.

Greetings will also be extended to Rev. Knowlton and wife by local ministers; and a representative of the board of trustees will also give words of welcome. Mr. Knowlton will also have some part in the program, and address the gathering.

Refreshments will be served by the women of the church.

Gifford Pinchot, sage of Pike County, triumphed in a political contest yesterday in Bucks County when he carried the county by a majority of 3171 with returns in from all of the 101 election districts.

All of the local candidates had an easy time of it and the Republican candidates were elected to Congress, State Senate and the General Assembly.

There are a few scattering districts here and there where the forester lost to Hemphill.

In Bristol borough Pinchot came through with a majority of 581, carrying every one of the nine election districts except two. The two districts giving Hemphill a majority were fourth ward, first precinct, and fourth ward, second precinct. The former gave the Democratic candidate 99 lead and the latter a majority of five.

Total vote cast for Pinchot in Bristol was 685 and that for Hemphill was 104.

The rest of the Republican ticket swept the county and the total vote cast for each as tabulated up until noon today was as follows:

United States Senator: James J. Davis, R., 17,213; Sedgwick Kistler, D., 6,695.

Governor: Gifford Pinchot, R., P., 13,787; John M. Hemphill, D., L., 10,616.

Lieutenant Governor: Edward C. Shannon, R., 15,551; Guy K. Bard, D., 6,883.

Judge of Supreme Court: George W. Maxey, R., 17,255; Henry C. Niles, D., 6,868.

Representative in Congress: Henry W. Watson, R., 17,907; John F. Heady, D., 6,830.

Senator in General Assembly: Clarence J. Buckman, R., 17,993; Carroll B. Price, D., 6,876.

Representative in General Assembly: W. Albertson Haines, R., 16,711; Wilson L. Yeckel, R., 16,614; George MacReynolds, D., 6,962; John S. Lippman, D., 6,654.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—The voters of Pennsylvania have chosen Gifford Pinchot, the Forester, to be their Governor for the next four years.

Pinchot, who has been in the nation's political spotlight ever since the Roosevelt Administration, barely nosed out John M. Hemphill, wet Liberal-Democrat, in one of the closest gubernatorial races staged in the history of Pennsylvania, according to almost complete returns at 7.30 today.

The victory of this gray-haired veteran of a hundred political wars thrust him into the national spotlight as a speculative figure for the 1932 Presidential race. He won over younger Hemphill, who was making his debut as a seeker of public office, but their race remained in doubt through half of the night.

The Republican nominee's headquarters claimed his election by upwards of 125,000 but at the moment, Pinchot was running but 94,000 ahead of Hemphill with 6,513 precincts out of 8,231 reported. It was possible Hemphill might slightly reduce Pinchot's lead before the final vote is tabulated.

The gubernatorial race was close but the rest of the state-wide Republican ticket was swept into office by tremendous majorities. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis was elected to the Senate to occupy the seat denied William S. Vare two years ago. Judge George W. Maxey, of Scranton, was named to the State Supreme Court and all the other Republican candidates for state offices rode to victory with them.

In the Congressional fight, the Democrats scored roundly, winning four seats in all, a gain of three over the single member they boast in Pennsylvania's present delegation. The Democratic victories were won in the 11th, (Lackawanna) 14th (Berks-Lehigh) 22nd (York) and 30th (Adams) Districts.

The contest between Pinchot and Hemphill overshadowed all the other contests. Between them, one vessel in all the lore and witchcraft of politics, the other making his debut as a novice, they shattered a dozen precedents.

HEALTHIER

The Department of Commerce has diagnosed our national health and found us healthier.

Last year, among 95.7 per cent of the total population of the United States, there was a total of 1,386,363 deaths, corresponding to a rate of 11.9 per 1,000 population as compared with 12.1 in 1929.

The death rate from all causes per 100,000 population decreased from 12.07 in 1928 to 11.923 in 1929. This decrease occurred in spite of increases in deaths from influenza, heart diseases and meningitis. These three diseases caused 21.2 per cent of all deaths in 1928 and 22.7 in 1929.

There is comfort in the statistics showing a drop in the tuberculosis mortality rate of 2.4 per cent 100,000 of population and in the cancer mortality rate of .1 per 100,000 of population. These are the plagues we fear most. But there is no comfort in the increase from 79.4 to 80.9 per 100,000 population in deaths from automobile and other accidents.

What does it avail us if medical science, public health and better and more intelligent living spares human lives, only to have them snatched away by traffic accidents?

The trends indicated in these comparisons probably will continue to manifest themselves this year and next. The trend toward better health and greater longevity will continue. The war against death and disease is making steady progress.

WORK FOR THOUSANDS

One source of unemployment relief the nation had not counted on was the postoffice department, which now estimates that it can put 228,490 men to work during the Christmas mail rush period. These will be extra workers recruited from the army of unemployed.

It is estimated that these emergency workers will draw a total of $6,720,000 in wages, a considerable amount at a time when many have been out of work for months.

Another unemployment relief measure of the postoffice department is contained in special instructions to all postmasters directing the use of extra men for emergency work rather than regular men on overtime. This recognizes a nationwide need for employment for the unemployed rather than more work for the employed.

Here the postoffice department has set a precedent which private industry and business could emulate with benefit to every element of our national life. It is both more equitable and more advantageous to divide work among the entire staff than to give it all to a few, dismissing the others. Shorter hours and sustained purchasing power encourage stability, while long and hard work for some and idleness for others give rise to social unrest.

They'll kill the corn borer yet. They will cut off his appropriation. An open mind is all right if your mouth isn't that way.

Girls dress up like a brass band because boys follow the band.

You can't mistake them. If they point with pride they are already in office; if they view with alarm they are trying to get into office.

Children TenderParents A Party

A surprise anniversary party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sagolla, of Otter street, by their children on Sunday evening. The event marked the silver wedding anniversary of the honored guests.

The rooms were beautifully decorated in true Hallowe'en style. A large wedding cake, bearing the words 25th anniversary, graced the center of the table. Refreshments were served at a late hour and the happy couple were presented with many beautiful silver pieces, as mementoes of the occasion.

Dancing, singing, music and games featured the evening's entertainment. Different exhibition stunts also caused much amusement.

The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Delia, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Aita, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Squillace, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sagolla, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Aita, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sagolla, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bomentro, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Aita, Mr. and Mrs. John Ennis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Waugh, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Force, Mr. and Mrs. William Stetson, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Sivatan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neiks, Misses Anna and Ida Aita, Christine and Elizabeth Delia, Laura and Mary Sagolla, Jean and Harriet Stetson, Elizabeth Squillace, Rose Sagolla, Messrs. Dancing Class Has AnEnjoyable Affair Here

Mrs. Clyde Thiele of Pond and Lafayette streets, who conducts a dancing school for boys and girls, gave a Hallowe'en party this week, for the younger girls of the class.

The room was attractively decorated with the Hallowe'en colors, orange and black crepe paper, and all kinds of weird faces, black cats, pumpkins, skeletons etc., were in evidence. Orange paper shades with black figures covered each light, giving a soft light in the room.

The children were masked and after everyone had arrived at the party a grand march was held, and the judges selected the following for prizes: Best dressed twins, Florence Antennella and Yolanda Puccio; comic dressed girl, Doris Fenton. The judges were Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Pone.

Following the unmasking, all kinds of Hallowe'en games were played. Singing and dancing was also enjoyed, the music being furnished by Victrola. Mrs. Thiele called upon each member of the class and each girl either sang a song or danced, as their name was called. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Thiele, Mrs. Pone and Mrs. Campbell.

Refreshments were served and each girl received a small basket filled with candy. Those who enjoyed this delightful affair were:

Hallowe'en PartyGiven for Scholars

The teachers of the infant department of St. James's Sunday School, gave a Hallowe'en party to the children of the department. There were about sixty children present and all were masked, wearing fancy, comic and original costumes. Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin, Mrs. Robert Patterson and Mrs. John Bingham were the judges of the costumes and the following children were chosen for prizes:

Best dressed girls, June McLaughlin, who was dressed as a fairy, and Jean Wilson, representing a flower; best impersonator of a boy, Mildred Goheen; best impersonator of an old woman, Buddy Shire; little Mary Jane Wright represented a Quaker maid; William Shire impersonated an old woman; Kenneth Herman was dressed as a soldier.

All kinds of Hallowe'en games were played and a prize was given to William Bell.

Refreshments of Dixie cups, small cakes and lollipops were enjoyed by the children, after which all departed for their homes, having had a wonderful time. The teachers in charge of this party were Mrs. Warren Thompson, Mrs. L. J. Gorton, Mrs. William Strobele and Mrs. George Herman.

Mrs. Mattie Goodchild and daughters, of Eddystone, were week-end guests of Mrs. Florence Hibbs, of Walnut street.

the county prison after the hold-up, from the man's voice and features. Walczykowski was masked the nights of the holdups.

Godfrey Cook, of Andalusia, testified that on the night of August 22, he too was held up. He was robbed of a pocket book containing $100 and a wrist watch worth $25. He was accompanied by a Philadelphia nurse, who was also robbed. The nurse testified last night that she slapped "Sizy" in the face, and that her identification of him was absolutely certain.

Although it was not brought out at the hearing, Corporal Francis stated this morning that last week a Philadelphia detective brought a man to the county prison who had been held up and robbed in that city. The man identified Walczykowski as the "stick-up" man who did the job.

Justice Hobensack committed Walczykowski to the county prison without bail to await trial at the December term of criminal court. The examination of Commonwealth witnesses was conducted last night by District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn. The defendant was represented last night by Louis Rubin, of Bristol. At the trial he will be represented by Edward A. Kelly, noted Philadelphia criminal lawyer, Webster S. Achey, Doylestown, and Mr. Rubin.

Pinchot Wins in Borough, County and State

cedents throughout the State. Their race also piled up a hundred new feuds to haunt Pennsylvania politicians in the future.

Pinchot won the Governorship by his amazing strength in Allegheny and Dauphin Counties and his powerful run in the rural communities of Central and Northern Pennsylvania.

He carried Allegheny by 75,000, Dauphin by the amazing margin of 26,000 and ran like wild-fire through the central tier of agricultural counties.

Hemphill shattered all precedents within memory by turning the City of Philadelphia Democratic. In this city, he rolled up the tremendous plurality of 217,000, with some divisions still missing. No Democrat has ever approached victory in this city in the last century, let alone winning it by such a huge margin. He also carried the wet Democratic communities through Berks, Lehigh and Northampton Counties, added Erie and Montgomery and ran Pinchot a close race in some western counties.

While Hemphill lost, he was by no means disgraced. He ran the greatest race a Democratic candidate for Governor has ever run in Pennsylvania. Indeed he may even reach the staggering total of a million votes given Alfred E. Smith in 1928, except that the latter lost by another million to Herbert Hoover and Hemphill will be but barely nosed out in this contest.

The returns demonstrated clearly that Republicans bolted to Hemphill by hundreds of thousands. Pinchot probably ran 500,000 behind the rest of his ticket in the State. This figure does not represent all the Republican bolters, because Pinchot undoubtedly won some 250,000 Democratic votes in upstate counties, which would place 750,000 Republicans under Hemphill's banner.

There were shocks and sensations in the returns from various counties. The Hemphill managers received their greatest shock when reports indicated Allegheny County had remained loyal to Pinchot by a majority of around 75,000. There had been many rumors current and the Hemphill managers believed them to the last that Allegheny would bolt to Hemphill in the election. Instead, Pinchot carried it by a stunning majority.

The story of Pinchot's victory can be told in a single sentence. He carried every county from the Susquehanna River to the Ohio border line, with the one exception of Erie. He swept dry of Democratic counties just as Woodrow Wilson would have done and he piled up majorities in Republican counties like a Theodore Roosevelt.

His Dauphin County majority of 26,000 was exceptional but it demonstrated his strength through the central section of the State just as his Pittsburgh victory revealed his strength in Western Pennsylvania.

Hemphill, however, ran a marvelous race. He carried eight counties, though the Pinchot managers had boasted before the election that he would win but one—Philadelphia. In all, he won Philadelphia by 217,000, Berks by 10,000, Lehigh by 12,000, Northampton by 4,200, Montgomery by 8,000, Erie by 3,000, and Montour and Monroe by small margins.

The bitterness of the campaign will breed political wars in the future. The bolting of hundreds of thousands of Republicans and Democrats to the opposite party standard may be felt for years to come.

The result in Montgomery County certainly will provoke warfare.

Hemphill carried the county by around 3,000 apparently, although Pinchot's managers had predicted victory by 20,000. The result represented a clash between C. Duncan Just, Pinchot leader, and Charles Johnson, Secretary Laboratory tests of Rinso in DeBoth's Homemakers' model kitchen.

"We have found a great work-saver for women"

. . . says this paper's famous expert.

The Bristol Courier Expert Mrs. Katherine Delaney will give another demonstration at St. James's Parish House Tonight Tomorrow and Friday at 7:45 P. M.

Shows thousands way to whiter clothes with less work

EVER had the washday "blues"? Then come to the DeBoth home-making demonstration today.

See washday blues turned to joy! See how clothes are washed snow-white, sweet as clover—without scrubbing or boiling!

Miss DeBoth's staff of experts have shown half a million women how to save time and work on washday—how to save clothes—how to get whiter washes safely. There will be another of these interesting demonstrations today at the time and place shown above. Don't miss it!

The dirt is soaked out

In the DeBoth demonstration the famous granulated soap, Rinso, is used.

See how Rinso whips into rich, creamy suds—how these suds loosen the dirt—how the clothes rinse snow-white without a bit of hard work! Result: are almost unbelievable!

Try Rinso yourself next washday! It's all you need—no bar soaps, chips or powders. Granulated, compact—one cupful of Rinso gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Economical!

Rinso is great in washers, too. Endorsed by the makers of 38 leading washing machines—used by more than 32,000 washer demonstrators for best results.

Famous Home-making Expert Katherine Delaney says:

"We discovered by laboratory tests that Rinso soaks out dirt and spots with very little rubbing . . . washes snowy-white without boiling. Saves clothes and hands, too."

"As a result, we urge women to trust even their finest cottons and linens to its care. We also advise it for dishes and all household cleaning. Rinso is a great work-saver and its rich suds make it very economical."

"We tested it in washing machines, also—and are not surprised that makers of 38 leading washers recommend Rinso!"

WHO CAN DISPROVE IT?

Take any typical city. Consider the liquor situation before and since the advent of Prohibition, and we make this statement with emphasis, and with no fear of successful contradiction: There was more booze sold in the city by a single saloon in the open saloon days than by all the bootleggers combined today. There were more people to be seen in the various stages of intoxication, from the merely "soused" to the "hoor" drunk, any Saturday afternoon and night than are to be seen in six months under Prohibition. People who are old enough to know at first hand conditions then and now will not deny this statement, unless they are in league with the liquorites. It is the man who has a personal interest in having booze restored to its former place of infamy in this country who will try to make the rising generation believe that Prohibition is a failure.—Religious Telescope, Dayton, Ohio.—(Adv.)

NEEDS FOR RED CROSS SERVICE ON INCREASE, SAYS CHAIRMAN PAYNE

Disaster Relief and Service to War Veterans Make Heavy Demands—First Aid on Highways New Plan,

Demands upon the public services that the American Red Cross is organized to give are increasingly heavy, and will continue to be so in the future, John Barton Payne, chairman has announced.

The two major services of the society—service to war veterans and their dependents, and relief in disasters—show each year a greater number of persons helped by the Red Cross.

Pension legislation passed recently for World War Veterans, and increased allotments to all Spanish-American War Veterans, have given to Chapters and the national society many thousands of additional cases to handle, Judge Payne said.

In the past year help was given in 108 disasters. Ninety of these were in the United States, twelve in foreign possessions and six were in foreign countries.

Health activities of the Red Cross also are being extended, especially in the rural communities where all health authorities agree the greatest need exists. Red Cross, with 794 nurses in its employ, is the greatest employer of public health nurses in rural areas in the United States.

In its campaign against accidental deaths, begun twenty years ago with its life saving and first aid programs, the Red Cross now has adopted an additional program—that of combating the huge toll of life from automobile accidents on the highways.

Expenditures of the Red Cross in the past year were $4,254,796.34, of which $1,208,151.09 was spent in disaster relief, the chairman pointed out.

"The Red Cross depends upon the public for its support, through their memberships enrolled once each year in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day," Judge Payne said.

"We do not receive any support from the Government, or through other taxation, although as the President of the United States is president of the society, and one-third of its governing members are representatives of U. S. Departments, it ranks as a semi-governmental agency.

"By joining as a member, in the local Red Cross Chapter, once each year, during the annual Roll Call, every citizen will have a part in carrying on this great humanitarian task."

Motor Injuries Treated By Red Cross First Aid

In line with its work for the preservation of life and prevention of accidental death, the American Red Cross has adopted a new program of emergency first aid stations on the highways of the nation, where victims of automobile injuries will be helped.

In the last year 31,000 persons were killed as the result of automobile accidents and more than 1,000,000 were injured. As its contribution to the nation wide safety campaigns of other organizations, the Red Cross will aid through the emergency stations. A number already are in operation by Chapters on such important traffic arteries as the Westchester County, N. Y., park system, the Valley Forge and Gettysburg highways in Pennsylvania and the White Horse Pike in New Jersey, connecting with Atlantic City.

Saving Mothers and Babies Is Important Red Cross Task

Saving mothers' lives and better babies were important features during the past year of the Public Health Nursing Service of the American Red Cross. About four-fifths of the 794 nurses in the Red Cross work made more than 100,000 prenatal and maternity visits, in addition to assisting doctors in the examination of 1,309,409 school children.

Statistics reveal that the lives of two out of three American women who die in maternity cases could be saved if they received proper medical and nursing care. As more than 15,000 women die in the United States each year from various diseases of the maternal state, this means that more than 10,000 of these deaths are preventable.

Comfort Kits Sent 40,000 Service Men by Red Cross

Gay patterned cretonne bags, or comfort kits, containing articles useful and amusing, are sent by the Red Cross to 40,000 soldiers, sailors and Marines, on foreign service, as Christmas remembrances.

The little gift bags are donated and packed by women in Red Cross Chapters all over the country. They are despatched by Army transport in the early autumn in order to reach the foreign ports and posts of the U. S. services in time to be hung on the Christmas trees. Giving the remembrances from home is the outgrowth of a plan adopted by the Red Cross prior to the World War when so many National Guard regiments were on the Mexican border.

TO HUMAN ATOMIZERS

Cover your nose whenever you sneeze. Cover your mouth, too, if you'd please; Cover the rest of you, front and back. And sneezing fits won't then attack.

CROYDON

The children of the Lutheran Sunday School are selling Christmas Cards at a very reasonable price and the proceeds will be placed in the school treasury. They ask the public's help.

The Croydon Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Croydon Fire House, Wednesday evening. All members are requested to be present. There will be business of importance, and reports of committees.

An exhibition of the Cornwells Needle Work Guild, was held in the school room of the Presbyterian Church in Eddington recently. Mrs. F. A. Simons was in charge, and 65 people were present. 1700 garments and 15 infant baskets with 46 articles in each were displayed. Miss Jones spoke about Labrador, which was very interesting. Mrs. Julia Hazzard of the Philadelphia Convalescent Home for Children, at Langhorne, told how thankful the tots are to the Needle Work Guild for the garments they received. Mrs. H. Frederick is also very thankful for the many warm garments received for those in need in Croydon. The guild asks two garments a year from those who are interested, especially in children.

Dr. Gonzelzey, of State Road, came home with two beautiful pheasants, which he captured on his gunning trip Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kepperman are now occupying the apartments over the store, corner State Road and Cedar avenue. Sometime previous to November 15th, they will open a cut price medicine store.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morrin of State Road, have moved their hardware business back to the old homestead, where they will start anew.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wolfrum, of State Road, entertained relatives from Kensington, on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Wilkinson, of Bristol Pike, fell, striking the back of her head, and has been very ill at her home. It is hoped she will soon be quite well, and able to attend the guild meetings where her presence is much needed.

Charles Wilkie, of River Road, is at home on a furlough from the U. S.

Navy. Charles recently returned to the U. S. from China.

For the first time in history of the organization, twelve thousand members of the Knights of Columbus, plan a 100 P. C. enrollment in the annual roll call of the Red Cross. How about Bristol township following this example?

Excelsior avenue has been taken over and put in condition by the road supervisor from State Road to River Road, after some persuasion of the committee. This road was needed in time of fire and the only road open from Cedar avenue to River Road on State Road.

Plenty of people have a good aim in life, but we say a lot of them don't pull the trigger.

Upon being told by Johnnie that his mother had fallen down the stairs and had suffered from shock, the kind neighbor inquired "And is your mother still upset?"

"Why, no", answered the brilliant youngster. "Pop picked her up right away."

tells why she recommends
BOND BREAD

SHE has tested the purity of the ingredients used. She has seen how thoroughly each loaf is baked. And then she has bought Bond Bread at her grocer's—fresh from the oven, well-browned, firm and close-knit in texture, home-like in flavor. Like more than a million other women who buy it every day, she recognizes in Bond the ideal loaf of the American housewife—for 43,040 housewives helped to perfect it.

WHITER WASHING WITH LESS WORK
Sprinkle the granulated soap into the tub or washer. Add hot water, and stir. A few seconds will give a clear, rich soapy solution. Use enough soap to produce creamy lasting suds even after clothes are in. Let the suds be your guide. Soak white clothes an hour or two or over night in lukewarm suds. Sprinkle dry granulated soap on badly soiled spots, roll garment and push well under water. Water should cover clothes. Colored clothes—soap not more than 15 to 20 minutes. Wash in fresh, hot suds. Rinse thoroughly. The rinse waters carry away the loosened dirt. Give two hot and one cold rinse.

Curtain and Coverlet Ensemble

The quaint charm of this early American bedroom is accentuated by its net curtains and harmonizing coverlet reproducing the sampler figures.

DECORATIVE unity between bedspread and window curtains is this year's style development in bedroom furnishing.

If the spread and overdrapes are flowered chintz or cretonne, a floral motif is an appropriate selection for Milady's glass curtains. On the other hand, for the masculine room, where simplicity is desirable, a plain or small geometric-figured glass curtain will be better.

With the vogue for furnishing in periods such as the Colonial, Georgian, French, and other "schools," new designs in net curtains and harmonizing coverlets are keeping pace, and patterns authentically styled to period rooms are appearing.

For the bedroom in the early American manner, there are Colonial net curtains, reproducing sampler figures typical of the "raught" needlework of old, and created especially to companion them are coverlets designed in pastel colorings. Some reproduce sampler figures similar to those in the curtains. The woman clever with her needle can carry her bedroom ensemble still further by copying these designs for dresser-scarf and runners. Other designs are drawn from the hand-blocked patterns or simulate tufted candlewick spreads.

In tune with the more elaborate English-style of furnishing, there are spreads which carry rich embroidery designs on a natural background. These spreads are reminiscent of the embroideries on linen popular in the early 18th century, and harmonize with new Georgian designs in net curtains, which also find their inspiration in needlepoint and embroidery motifs.

The coverlet should harmonize with, rather than match, the curtain according to general preference.

POLLYANNA

I am the symbol of independence, righteousness and freedom; a product of the loom, an evolution of the handwork of a woman, the outgrowth of an American need.

I am on the high seas, on the house-tops, in the home and dear to the heart of every citizen of the United States. But whether on land, fluttering to the breeze, or on sea, the safeguard of humanity, I ever awaken a love of country.

I have stood in times past, and will always stand, for deeds of heroism, for sacrifice of life, for perpetuating all that is highest and noblest in republic. I am the cause for preparedness, the can government.

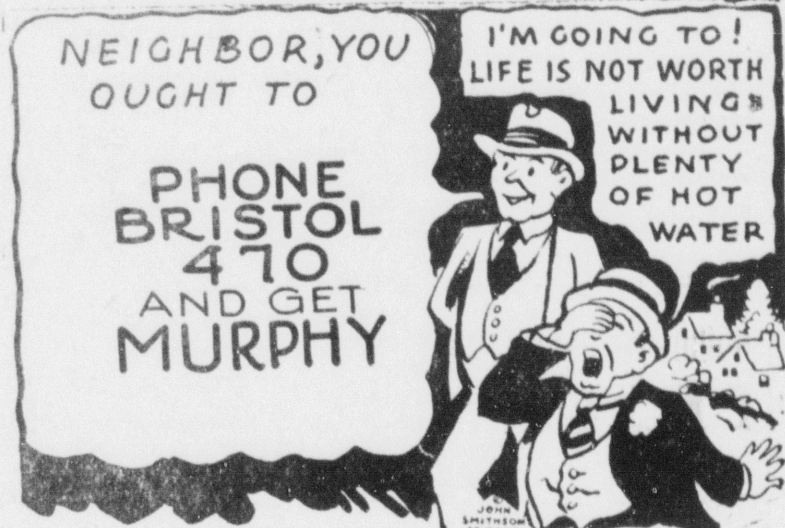

Some people persist in buying wild cat stock as if their bank rolls had nine lives.

I will never cease to be just what men and women of patriotic thought and action make me—the standard of a mighty country, the banner that has inspired the greatest songs and the best of prose and poetry. To some I am Old Glory—the Star Spangled Banner. To others I am the Stars and Stripes—the Red, White and Blue. To everyone, I am the guarantee of personal liberty everywhere.

I AM THE AMERICAN FLAG

Doctor: "Well, perhaps I had better send my bill."

ELWOOD DYER

THOMAS RELATES HIS EXPERIENCES

By David P. Sentner

L. N. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A deep, musical voice, crisp and clear as a bell on a mountain top, clips out the news of the world each night over a far-flung radio system.

The young man behind the voice is Lowell Thomas, author, war correspondent, explorer, gold miner, trailer of life in the raw, history on the make, the bizarre, the unseen and the untold.

Perhaps Thomas is best known for his revealing to the world the strange story of Lawrence, the uncrowned king of Arabia. But his friends will tell you that the adventures of Thomas would be as thrilling if you could get him to tell them—which he won't. As far as Thomas would go in this direction in an interview was to admit he was a soldier of fortune at heart.

"When I was eleven years old I worked in a gold mine and I guess that gave me the adventure bug," he said. "Gold miners the world over are a roaming, rambling, restless race."

Thomas is the son of a surgeon, who brought him from Ohio to a roaring mining camp at Cripple Creek in Colorado. Young Thomas, only eight years old, met tough men whose home was geography. They told stories to make a lad's heart beat like a generator.

His father would take Lowell into the hills and make him recite poetry and prose, coaching him on proper enunciation. Young Thomas couldn't see any sense in that then but that early training in open-space public speaking undoubtedly contributed to his popularity as "news dispenser extraordinary" for the Literary Digest. Studio experts for the National Broadcasting Company say Thomas has the perfect radio voice.

Thomas became miner, cub reporter, went to the University of Denver, then a newspaperman with a famous band—Carl Sandburg, Ben Hecht, Harry Hansen, Mary Synon—following with expeditions to the Klondike, to the edge of the Arctic, to the European war front, with General Allenby's army in the Near East, more adventures in India, Afghanistan, East Indies, South Seas and a hundred other shadowy corners of the earth.

I asked Thomas how he uncovered the story of cannibalism in an open boat as told in his latest book "The Wreck of the Dumaru", published by Doubleday Doran. Critics term it one of the great sea stories of history. It is truly a tale to make your hair stand on tip toe.

Always on the alert for unusual characters, Thomas met a sailor in Cleveland named Fritz Harmon, first assistant engineer of the ill-fated vessel Dumaru.

"I'm the man who helped eat the chief engineer," Harmon told Thomas. "The Dumaru was one of those war babies built in 1918 at Portland, Ore." said Thomas. "It was marked as a hoodoo ship when it crashed at its launching and they had a difficult time getting a crew."

"Loaded with gasoline and explosives for Manila, a motley crew including many cutthroats was finally assembled. The Dumaru was barely at sea when the men in the engine crew were throwing shovels of hot coal at each other and the rumble of discontent and mutiny could be heard throughout the ship."

"A few hours out of Guam the boat blew up with its load of munitions after a flash of lightning in a storm set fire to the ship. The crew had a close call in taking to two open boats and a raft. Boat number one, the cannibal boat, was overcrowded. It was washed out to sea and for 25 days the men without food or water drifted over 1,000 miles."

"Eighteen of the 32 men died from hunger, exposure and madness. The last ten days was one of terrible misery and horror. The survivors fed on the bodies of the dead."

"Well, I wrote it as Harmon told it. The world never knew the story before. I mentioned the tale on the radio and Edward Tate, now superintendent of a plant in Paterson, N. J., communicated with me. He told me he had been in boat number two, but had never known what had happened in boat number one, the cannibal boat."

This Thomas who goes places, does things and puts life into words said he never read or wrote fiction. I could understand it.

"I have two main interests in my wanderings; to meet picturesque, unusual characters, and to visit strange out-of-the-way places," he said.

"I like to think of myself as an observer of life—I don't know how good an observer—but I have a lot of fun at it."

POLLYANNA

WHAT SHALL IT PROFIT A MAN?

If he earns big wages but saves none of it?
If he gets money only to let it master him?

If his pay envelope he fat and the paying off of his debts makes it flat?

If he hides his money under his pillow and is robbed of all he has saved?

If he builds an imposing financial structure and fails to put a protecting roof over it?

If opportunity knocks at his door and he has no money saved to accept her invitation?

If he gains the only woman in the world and has no safe financial prospects to offer her?

If he gains a fortune and loses the vision of usefulness and responsibility which it entails?

If he lays by a fortune for his children and fails to see that they are trained in thrift?

If he wastes his money and then wastes his time wondering why he was ever so foolish?

An intelligent man has will power, but an idiot has won't power.

Correct this sentence: "I keep my troubles to myself, but am always glad to listen to those of other people."

Tourist: "May I have a couple of towels?"
Landlady: "Are you gonna stay here all summer?"

One evening during the summer, a Pauline's mother was putting her to bed, she said. "Now go right to sleep, dear. Don't be afraid for God's angels are watching over you."

Shortly afterward, while the mother and father were reading in the library the child called to her mother. "Ye dear," replied the mother. "What is it?"
"God's angels are buzzing around me just awful, mother," cried the little girl, "and one of 'em's bitten me."

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—No address is too obscure to baffle the post office. "Hard Readers" in the Nixie division can decipher anything.

Under the general term "Nixies", according to Section 1559 of the Postal Laws and Regulation, 1924, is embraced all mail matter "not addressed to a post office without the name of the state being given, or otherwise, so incorrectly, illegibly, indefinitely or insufficiently addressed that it cannot be transmitted."

During Sir Thomas Lipton's recent visit to this country, the Nixie division found, amid the bewildering bundles of mail that comes to them daily, a letter addressed "Certho Lipson, Ern". The letter was immediately forwarded to Sir Thomas Lipton, for it was no trick at all for the gifted "hard readers" to realize that Certho was meant for Sir Thomas, and Lipson for Lipton, Ern, of course stood for the yacht, Ern.

Or, for instance, a keen "hard reader," picks up a letter addressed, "Bil-fabrikaren Foord Dorretika," and by some incredible process of reasoning that would do credit to Sherlock Holmes, forwards it to the automobile factory of Henry Ford, Detroit. Letters coming addressed to "Autoking, Amerika" likewise go to Henry Ford, and when they are addressed "Oil King," fused German had it, they go to the or "Erl Kolng," as one slightly con-fused Broadway address of John D. Rockefeller.

Deciding matters like those are the easiest things the "hard readers" as they are called in post office slang, are called upon to do.

To the men who comprise the staff of the Nixie division, the hieroglyphics in the pyramids of ancient Egypt are as A B C to a college graduate. The six men in that department are uncanny in their judgment.

Thomas Morrison has just retired as head of the "Nixie" division, after serving fifty years in the post office of which thirty years has been devoted to deciphering nixies. In the department, there is Morris Abraham with thirty-five years of service to his credit, Frances X. Dyer with thirty, Henry Feigneow with thirty, James B. Gant with twenty and Thomas J. Keyes, a mere beginner with twelve. None of these men are able to explain how they arrive at the meaning of the strange, scrawled hieroglyphics that come to them.

Of course they are equipped with all possible means to help them, including directories of all the big cities in the country and many of the little ones, telephone books and post office directories. But best of all, they have in their own heads, an amazing knowledge of towns, streets, villages, counties, far-away hamlets, landings, post offices and R. F. D. routes; and in addition to their extensive knowledge, an intuition that makes them almost psychic.

For instance, one of them will pick a soiled, finger-marked and lead-pen-elled envelope from Finland, reading: "Alfred Ketin Nw Qpswith." It doesn't take him more than fifteen seconds to learn that that means New Ipswich, and rest is simple.

He deciphers "Maris Avee Nevak" as Morris Avenue, Newark; "Peder-shon" as Paterson; "Jandica" as Jamaica. The demon reader can get New Haven out of "Novole", in letters from Denmark, Finland, Russia, Jugo Slavia or Hungary. A letter addressed "por clandore" does not keep it from reaching Portland, Ore.

But even the skilled Nixie experts are nonplussed at times. Not so long ago, a letter addressed "Vladislav Wahndoski Wennight" came to visit cousin five years in movies" came to the department from some trusting soul from some place in Poland. He or she will doubtless wonder for a long time why no answer was received.

However, little trouble is experienced in the eagle minds of the hard readers" begin functioning. Just a glance will tell the mthat "tariton" is Tarrytown, that "Skulki Co." is Schuylkill county, and that "Rons Co." in some slightly befuddled brain is meant for Rensselaer county. Iowa easily takes the place of "Kova," and Boonton, N. J., replaces "Boonton, Nezoze." The skilled reader of the Nixies has no trouble in recognizing "Bel-haba," as Bell Herber, or "Timporlik" as Timber Lake. When, however, he is expected to see that a letter from Finland addressed "Alex Carelein, mason contractor Foundations, channels and repair work, America" reaches its destination, even he admits himself lost.

Ninety-eight per cent of the tangled and scarcely legible addresses that come to the "hard readers" are successfully readdressed by these men who earn only the sum of $2,300 a year. But they have the great satisfaction of knowing that lonely immigrant men and women who think of their kinfolk in far-away villages of Denmark or Poland are made happy in receiving these letters.

"KEYSTONE AUTOMOBILE CLUB SERVICE...CHAPTER 1"

"BE A KEYSTONE MEMBER"

and

on your Automobile Insurance

SOME years ago Keystone Automobile Club Members realized a fact that you know well—that "automobile insurance was too expensive." So they organized their own Insurance Companies to write all forms of Automobile Insurance—Keystone Automobile Club Casualty Company and Keystone Automobile Fire Company—twin stock companies owned outright by the Keystone Automobile Club.

By this progressive step, Keystone Members (and YOU can be one) get their insurance at 32½% less than standard insurance rates—a saving of almost one-third—and the lowest price ever offered for good automobile insurance!

This remarkable saving (it saves Club Members over half a million dollars annually) is possible because:

1. The cost of obtaining policy holders is low.
2. There are no "dividends" to be paid to stockholders. The Club owns all the stock.
3. There are no "directors' fees". No Keystone Director has ever drawn a cent of salary for his services.
4. Keystone "losses" are below the average—because Keystone Members are "preferred risks."
5. Unusually efficient and economical management.

As with all Stock Companies, Keystone Automobile Club Insurance is Non-Assessable. Not only does Keystone Automobile Club Insurance save you 32½%, but it gives you 100% Protection. With over 42,000 Policy Holders and over $3,000,000 in Resources the Keystone Companies rank high in the Insurance Field. In 1929 they wrote the third largest volume of automobile insurance of the companies doing business in Pennsylvania.

"FRIENDLY INSURANCE"

And because every Keystone Policy Holder is a Keystone Automobile Club Member all claims are promptly, fairly and equitably adjusted in a friendly way of friends.

Figure Out what a saving of 32½% and this friendly interest would mean to you. It is like being able to buy gold dollars for 67½c. Clip and mail the Coupon and investigate these most interesting facts or phone nearest office.
